

Introduction:

The Personal Identity Wheel (see citation below) is a worksheet activity that encourages students to reflect on how they identify outside of social identifiers. This Modified Personal Identity Wheel (see next page) provides a new worksheet activity which prompts students to list adjectives they would use to describe themselves after reflection on their answers to six personal identity characteristics. It is best used as an icebreaker activity. The wheels can be used as a prompt for small or large group discussion or reflective writing on identity by using the Spectrum Activity Questions on Identity.

When used as an icebreaker, this activity can be used to help students find common ground with their peers and learn more about one another, helping students build community.
