

Introduction:

This activity is designed for students who are studying abroad to familiarize them with their surroundings, encourage them to engage with locals, and connect objects they encounter in the city to the local culture.

Participant Instructions:

1. Photos

- In Part 1, you will locate and memorialize at least 20 of the items listed below within a week or less. You must include a blend of items from Group A and Group B, but the selection is up to you.

SAFETY NOTE: You should always ask permission before taking photos of a local person. Keep in mind that in some cultures, it is seen as inappropriate or rude to take photos, especially without permission. Also, some countries restrict or prohibit photographs of police stations, places of worship, museums, and government buildings. Before photographing the items marked with an asterisk, check a good guidebook of the destination location, or ask a trusted local person about photo etiquette in the country.

- When you are finished with the photoshoot, post your photos and a short caption in the group discussion board for feedback from your peers and mentor.

2. The cultural context

- Identify one of the items you captured in your photoshoot that seems to be particularly representative of the culture (such as a museum, means of transportation, or public space).
- Find at least two different individuals who are from the destination country and ask them about the significance of this item for the culture. (Example: What does the Eiffel Tower tell us about French culture? Is the rickshaw still an important emblem of Asian culture?)
- Post an essay of 300-500 words that answers the following questions:
 - Which item did you investigate as a cultural item? Why did you choose this item to investigate?
 - What did you learn about it? What was your reaction to this information?
 - What insights did you gain into deep culture (values, beliefs, philosophy, religion, etc.) from your interviews with cultural informants? What was your emotional response to these insights?
 - What does this cultural artifact, or the relationship between it and deep culture, remind you of in your hometown/home culture?
 - Will you explore this aspect of the culture further, and if so, how, or why?

3. Dialogue with peers

- Review the postings from other students in the group and reply with curiosity questions to your peers' essays. Ask at least two questions and respond to each question posed to you.
